Mr. Speaker: I am directed by the Governor to lay before the Senate a communication in writing. And he withdrew.

Whereupon, Mr. Speaker laid before the Senate the following message, which was read, viz:

Gentlemen of the Senate, and of the House of Representatives:

You are convened in pursuance of my proclamation of the 15th of October last, and it now becomes my duty to communicate to you the reason of your convocation. While we have abundant cause to be devoutly thankful to an over-ruling Providence for the success which has every where attended industry—bountifully rewarded the husbandman for his labor—it is to be deeply deplored that our State is measurably overwhelmed with pecuniary embarrassments.

These embarrassments have grown out of our system of internal improvements, adopted by improvident legislation, at a time when the delusive phantom of speculation seemed to have taken possession of the human mind, and led the world into extravagance and error; and however deeply we may regret the evil which this system has entailed upon us, it would be unwise and unpatriotic to shrink from the responsibility of applying your best efforts to the pecuniary redemption of the State, and the preservation of her honor. The vast debt she has already incurred must be paid, and this can only be done by a strict and rigid maintenance of her credit abroad, and the wisdom with which her measures are directed at home.

A failure to meet promptly a single one of her engagements would inevitably throw around her future operations difficulties which would prove destructive to her character and interest, and in a great degree paralyze her energies.

Although there may be but one opinion among our citizens, that the money for which we are indebted has been injudiciously appropriated, still their virtue and patriotism, their high sense of honor and justice, imperiously forbid delinquency in its payments. I am clearly convinced that they would look upon no calamity which might befall them so great and humiliating as that which would strip them of their reputation for punctuality and probity in their engagements.

When a State loses sight of these paramount considerations in her public policy—when she ceases to hold integrity up to the world as the polar star of her legislation—when she becomes careless of her standing among the communities around her, she will settle down into hopeless degradation, and become the scorn and contempt of the world. Strongly impressed with these sentiments, I have convoked you at the present time, that you may be enabled to provide means for the payment of the interest, which will fall due on the first Monday in January next, on the internal improvement debt. The immense amount of State securities in the market—the general derangement of financial affairs in this and other countries—the suspension of specie payments by the banks, and the contractions of their issues, rendering the difficulties encountered in obtaining money for any purpose almost insurmountable, together with the shortness of time intervening between the period fixed by the Constitution for your regular meeting, and the first Monday in January succeeding, when the interest becomes due, presented doubts to my mind whether the Legislature, if they did not assemble previous to the commencement of their regular session, could adopt suitable measures for the purpose of providing the necessary funds to enable the Fund Commissioner to avail himself of their advantages so as to meet the pending obligation of the State. To obviate these objections I have called you together, and cannot but hope you will act in the premises with promptitude and wisdom, and thus preserve unsullied our plighted faith.

Unless our internal improvement stock should rise above its present selling price in the eastern cities, no alternative has been presented to my mind to meet the exigency but the hypothecation or sale of State bonds below par, which cannot be done under existing laws, but which would be preferable to the loss of honor or the prostration of the character and credit of the State.

The following table will exhibit the financial condition of the State, her indebtedness and resources, and the amount of interest to be paid on the internal improvement debt, on the first Monday of January next:

To which unavailable resources may be added lands owned by the State also at present unavailable, 40.332 acres

The following resources of the canal at the present time may be considered as unavailable:

The amount due prior to 1840 from sales of town lots, and
miscellaneous sales of wood and timber,	-	-	-	$1,047,654
For sales of land in June last, as per statement of the President of the Canal Board,	-	-	-	70,000

At the date of my last message, 270,182 acres of canal lands remained unsold, since which time I have received no report from the Board of Canal Commissioners, and consequently am unable to state the number of acres that has, subsequent to that time, been disposed of.

A failure to collect the amount due from John Delafield and others, or any part thereof, would render it impossible for the Fund Commissioner to pay the interest falling due on the first Monday of January next on the internal improvement debt, and is the sole cause of your being convened prior to the time fixed by the Constitution. A bill has been filed against Mr. Delafield in the Circuit Court of the United States for the southern District of New York, to restrain him from negotiating the bonds he received, as it is presumed he is neither willing nor able to pay for them. If this should prove true, the State is under no equitable or moral obligation to redeem them. While, therefore, I would admonish you to be sensibly alive to, and zealously watchful of her integrity and honor, I cannot believe she is in duty bound to fulfil an engagement where the other contracting party fails to comply with its conditions. The principles involved in this question have long been recognized by the highest judicial tribunals upon earth, as between individuals, and it would be difficult to discriminate between a case of that nature and the present.

The same reasons which govern the case of Mr. Delafield apply with equal force to the contracts with A. H. Bangs & Co. and the banks specified, should they pursue the same course. It is, however, probable that the Bank of Commerce at Buffalo will return the bonds she obtained to the State, and that the Commercial and Erie County Banks will discharge their liabilities in scrip.

The amount of $128,000 of bonds was sold by Gov. Reynolds and General Rawlings to the Poughkeepsie Locomotive Engine Company, to be paid for in eight quarterly instalments of $1600 each, at the Atlantic Bank of New York.

This negotiation was made under an act to authorize a loan for revenue purposes, to be applied to the erection of the state house, and the instalments were transferred, as they became due, to the Bank of Illinois for advances made by that institution for the above object. Four of these instalments are now due, but none of them being paid, suit was instituted by the bank for their recovery. Doubts, however, are entertained of the solvency of the company, and should it fail, the bonds received by it should be placed upon the same footing as those received by other delinquent purchasers.

Having laid before you the financial condition of the State, her available and unavailable resources, in comparison with her indebtedness, the dictates of sound policy require at your hands the adoption of the wisest and most judicious measures to relieve her present necessities, and provide for her future liabilities. It may truly be said, that no former period of our political history presented questions of such deep and absorbing interest. The future destiny of the State for weal or for woe depends upon the direction of the crisis. Unfortunately, at an unguarded moment, she was allured from the path of wisdom and economy by the seductive spirit of speculation, and the wild phrenzy of popular delusion, which spread over every part of the Union, and induced to embark in an extensive system of internal improvements at a period when the country was literally deluged with an inflated circulating medium, which gave the semblance of success to the most visionary and chimerical enterprises. But a general suspension of specie payments by the banks following close upon the seemingly eminent and rapid advancement of the country, and the sudden united and continued withdrawal of their unnatural circulation, spread gloom and dismay, instead of permanent wealth and prosperity; and so extensive and overwhelming has been the change in monetary affairs, that its effects have operated like a spell upon every department of business throughout the country, and nothing but prudence and time, united with the energies and patriotism of the people, can overcome its withering and desolating consequences. With steady perseverance, however, and well directed industry, favored, as we are, with the most fertile soil upon the globe; with a vast extent of territory, susceptible of the most dense population, abounding with natural advantages, and intersected and surrounded with navigation, settled and settling with a population proverbial for their enterprize; can it be doubted that the State will gradually be redeemed from her embarrassments, and ultimately complete such portions of the system as wisdom may dictate, and our interest demand, and thus maintain her dignity and honor unimpaired? Surely her representatives will never consent to be placed in the humiliating attitude of being the first in the Union to abandon their plighted faith. Such an act would be contrary to their interest, derogatory to their pride and integrity, and too monstrously absurd to be for a moment entertained.

A renewal, however, of operations upon our public works, or any portion thereof, at the present time, seems to be forbid by the condition of our finances. The immense debt already fastened upon us, the impossibility of effecting a sale of State bonds at par, and the general derangement of financial affairs, present to my mind insurmountable obstacles to their further prosecution under existing circumstances. But should your wisdom dictate otherwise, and you determine to proceed with a portion of them, then the salutary lessons of experience we have had, and every principle of economy and public interest, point out the plan of operations too obviously to be misapprehended either as regards the present or any future period.

All the means and energy employed should be concentrated on the most useful and important road first, until that is completed, and then the next important, until all are finished.

By pursuing this course, the income upon the roads in operation would in all probability pay the interest upon their cost, and greatly facilitate the construction of others, while the comparative amount of money which might be required, could be obtained on more favorable terms. The question, therefore, naturally arises, whether we proceed with our internal improvement system or not, what policy can be adopted which will best subserve the present emergency, and promote the public weal in our future operations. Laying aside any doubt as it regards the payment of the January interest, which can only be done by the hypothecation or sale of State bonds at some price, how is a permanent fund to be provided to meet the future interest, and, eventually, the principal, as they respectively become due and payable.

The policy of paying the interest out of the money borrowed must ere long be abandoned, and the only alternatives which have suggested themselves to me is an increase of our banking capital, and a resort to direct taxation. The solution of these questions call into requisition the united wisdom of this General Assembly; and, in order to enable you to arrive at a correct conclusion, and settle down upon a policy, the momentous consequences of which deeply involve the interest and patriotism of the people, too much care cannot be taken in adopting the line of action to be pursued. Shall the first alternative be adopted? The consequences attendant upon and inseparably connected with an increase of our banking capital, should be narrowly scanned and well weighed in the balance before venturing upon such a resort. In the first place, should that policy be pursued, the capital cannot be obtained without involving the State in an additional debt corresponding with the increase; and if obtained, could such a resource be relied upon to pay any portion of our liabilities beyond the interest accruing upon its own account? To insure such a result to an extent commensurate with the object for which it would be designed, you would necessarily be compelled to raise the interest upon bank accommodations to ten or twelve per cent., and in this way tax the people some five or six per cent. upon the whole amount of notes issued under such a system, the benefit of which would accrue as well to the private stockholder as to the State. Then, if the bank should be well managed, we might expect the highest dividends, but the late and repeated expansions, suspensions, and contractions of the banks generally, furnish ample proof that the paper system is fundamentally wrong in principle, destructive in practice, and at war with the best interest of the country, and the genius and spirit of our republican institutions. Its tendency and inevitable result is, to spread merely the appearance of prosperity for a season, and then gloom, revulsion, and distress; thus proving that it has no power to regulate and render stable the currency of the country.

Whatever plan may be devised to provide means to pay off the liabilities of the State, none can be adopted that will not operate as a tax upon the property and industry of our citizens; and it ought not to be concealed that if the vast debt which has been incurred on account of our internal improvements is ever paid, it must be done through the medium of taxation. The dictates of wisdom and prudence, as well as sound policy, therefore, require that the most simple and economical plan should be pursued; and it only remains to determine between a direct and an indirect mode. I am aware it has often been alleged that the people would not submit to a system of direct taxation; hence, the erroneous, ruinous and irrepublican policy of indirect taxation has crept into our institutions, and so fearful have legislators been of the indignation of their constituents that the sources of its origin have been carefully concealed; to which cause, more than any other, may be attributed the host of monopolies, with their train of desolating evils, that are fastened and preying upon the vitals of the country. By such an iniquitous system large and excessive revenues are collected, and, consequently, wild and extravagant appropriations made. If, in a Government like ours, based upon the virtue and intelligence, and administered by the will of its citizens, we are to be told that they will not tolerate the most economical, certain and effectual mode of discharging their liabilities, then, indeed, we are compelled, however reluctant, to subscribe to the federal doctrine of their incompetency to regulate their own affairs, and constrained to acknowledge that we only enjoy the name and shadow and not the reality of republicanism.

But being, as I am, firmly persuaded that they are always patriotic in their sentiments; instead of temporary expedients, I have no doubt they would gladly embrace the most direct and judicious plan to relieve themselves from any embarrassments in which they may be involved. This would especially be true if they were always kept acquainted with their real condition, which would place them upon their guard, and enable them to avoid many calamities which otherwise would be entailed upon them. I cannot therefore, consistently with that duty I owe to the public welfare or my private feelings recommend to your favorable consideration an increase of our banking capital as a source of revenue or for any purpose whatever. I do not believe the people require it, or, if they did, that it would afford them any assistance.

The question hence arises whether we shall resort to direct taxation. I am clearly of opinion that it would be better to postpone the adoption of this policy for the ensuing two years. Although an increase of taxes may ultimately be inevitable, yet, under existing laws, the amount collected will annually become greatly enhanced.

The vast quantity of public lands entered in 1835, '6, '7 and '8, which are not yet taxable; the continued increase of wealth pouring into our State through the channels of emigration and trade, and the present scarcity of money, point out the propriety of making a loan to meet the interest upon our internal improvement debt until your next regular session.—The quantity of lands entered during the year 1835 and 1826 exceeds 5,229,227 acres. Estimating its value at $5 per acre, the additional revenue which will annually arise from this source under the present law, after the expiration of one and two years will be $52,292 26, and an undiminished augmentation from lands entered in 1837 and '8 will be continued, and so on continually, at a less rapid rate, however, for many years to come.

By setting apart, and exclusively applying the proceeds arising from this continual, unfailing and increasing source of revenue to the liquidation of the interest of our internal improvement debt, and by adopting rigid economy in the public expenditures of the State, the lands now taxable, together with the personal property, will ere long, yield a surplus, which added to the above resources, will go far towards the payment of that interest as it accrues. Under this policy the augmentation of taxes, when resorted to, would be comparatively of inconsiderable amount. In connection with this subject, I would suggest the propriety of reducing the county levies of taxes, and in the same, or less proportion, increasing the State taxes. By amending the revenue law so as to limit the county tax to one fifth, and increasing the State tax to one fourth per centum, the taxes would be reduced instead of increased, and the counties would still, with proper economy, be supplied with means to meet all necessary expenditures.

In the meantime, or before resort is had to an increase of taxes, the State may derive aid from other sources. Mr. Calhoun, of South Carolina, at the last session of Congress, introduced into that body a bill ceding to the States the public lands lying within their respective limits, on condition of their paying into the National Treasury, on the first of February annually, one half of the proceeds arising from the sales, reserving the other half to themselves. The adoption of this measure would be nothing but an act of justice to the new States, and coming, as it does, from a distinguished southern Senator, it exhibits the liberal and enlightened policy of the statesman. In view of its justice and propriety I would recommend that you instruct our Senators and request our Representatives in Congress to use their endeavors to procure its passage.

The issue of scrip on account of the internal improvement system and canal, has resulted, like most other temporary expedients, in a great depreciation of its value, which is working a pernicious influence upon the interest and credit of the State. Large amounts of it have been purchased by speculators at prices greatly below par, to the injury of the community, to an amount corresponding with its depreciation, and but little hope can be entertained of advanced prices so long as its circulation is continued as an article of trade. I would, therefore, respectfully recommend the adoption of such measures as will provide the means for its earliest redemption.

In the month of March last, General Thornton and others, as a committee on the part of the canal contractors, visited me for the purpose of making arrangements to provide means to pay off the estimates as they would become due for the remaining part of the year; alledging that unless a positive assurance was given that the money would be forthcoming to meet these estimates, the contractors would be forced to abandon their contracts, and that in this event general distress and bankruptcy in most cases would ensue, and consequently great loss to the State. Knowing that bonds could not, at that time, be sold at par to raise money for that purpose, they proposed, on the part of the contractors, that bonds should be placed in the hands of suitable agents to the probable amount of the expenditures for the year, to be paid to them at par; to which I assented, conditioned that the bonds so paid should be placed in the hands of an agent whom I might approve, to be sold for their benefit in our eastern cities or a foreign market to which condition they assented, and I, therefore, placed in the hands of Gen. Thornton, Canal Commissioner, $1,200,000 in bonds for that purpose, $1000,000 of which has since been sold by him in London, as agent for the contractors, at the rate of eighty-five per cent., which has enabled them to prosecute the work on the canal throughout the season with energy and success, and, as I am informed, without loss, as the reduction in the price of labor, provisions and materials has equalled the fifteen per cent reduction on the bonds. Under the circumstances, I would suggest the propriety of the State incurring the expense and compensation of the agent while engaged in the performance of his agency. This would seem to be just and equitable, as the payment of bonds, instead of money, to the contractors, superceded the necessity, on my part, of employing an agent to sell them in a foreign market, and consequently threw the expense and responsibility of the negotiation upon the contractors themselves, besides the loss of fifteen per centum upon the whole amount of bonds sold. It is proper that I should here remark, that I exceedingly regretted the necessity of paying the contractors with bonds, but as money could not be raised by a sale of them at par, to meet the estimates on the canal as they became due, and the contractors proposed to receive them at that rate, and hazard a sale of them on their own account, I felt constrained from a sense of duty towards them, and good faith on the part of the State, to place the bonds in the hands of the Canal Commissioners for their benefit.

By an act of the 1st of February last, the Commissioners of the Illinois and Michigan canal were required "to sell so much of the canal lands and lots the present year as were required to pay the interest on loans made for canal purposes." As early as April last the President of the Board verbally informed me that it would be impossible to realize money from the sale of these lands to pay the interest due in July following, and, consequently, other means were necessary to be resorted to to furnish the funds for that purpose. To meet the interest upon bonds sold prior to 1839 by Gov. Duncan, and payable in New York, the sum of $30,000 was loaned by Col. Mather, President of the State Bank of Illinois, and to pay that portion of the interest falling due in Europe, a draft was drawn by Judge Young upon Messrs. John Wright & Co., of London, for £20,000, it being part of £30,000 advanced by said company on a contract for $1,000,000 canal bonds entered into in October, 1839. £10,000 being the residue of the above £30,000 advanced by said Wright & Co. has been placed on deposit in the U. S. Bank, and I have instructed Judge Young to apply so much thereof as may be necessary for the payment of the interest becoming due in N. York on the first Monday of January next; and I am informed by Gen. Thornton that the means are provided to meet the interest due in London at the same time. As the contract with the Messrs. Wright & Co. was much animadverted upon by the last Legislature, notwithstanding I was convinced that no sale could be made more advantageous to the State at the time it was effected or during the present year, yet I hesitated much before assenting to its confirmation. Being, however, informed that no other means could be obtained to meet the July interest in London to prevent a forfeiture of good faith on the part of the State, I at once determined to confirm the contract. The residue of the bonds, after deducting the £30,000 advanced, still remain in the hands of Messrs. Wright & Co., and are as yet unavailable to the canal fund. If they are not sold prior to the 1st day of April next, the contract ceases by its own stipulations, and, in that event, no means are provided for the prosecution of the work on the canal for the ensuing year.

Subsequent to being informed by Gen. Thornton, that canal lands could not be sold to meet the July interest upon the canal debt, he communicated to me, that in June last, the Board effected a sale, to the amount of $70,000.

Whether the money is available or not, I am uninformed, not having been furnished with the proceedings, or report of said Board during the year, which prevents me from laying before you as full and complete a statement, in relation to the progress and condition of the Canal, as I desired.

About $2,245,000 of Canal stock has been sold under the act of 1839, leaving a balance, authorized to be sold by said act, of $1,755,000; but the present depreciation of American securities does not afford a reasonable expectation that a sale can be made of the residue of the stock at par, in time to meet the wants of the Canal. The great amount already expended upon this stupendous work, and the vast sum yet required for its completion, a portion of which must be immediately had, presents a subject for your consideration well worthy of mature deliberation. The accruing interest upon the debt which has already been incurred, the delapidation of the work which has been done, and the destruction of fixtures and other preparations for its prosecution, the loss of which must fall upon the State if it is abandoned, seems to forbid its suspension. It is, therefore, submitted to your wisdom and discretion what means are to be provided for its future progress. In view of the difficulties to be encountered in obtaining money, I would renew my former recommendation of selling so much of the Canal lands as will be sufficient to pay the accruing interest upon its debt.

Rigid accountability being essential to the fidelity of public officers, I feel it my duty again to recommend a thorough and rigid scrutiny into the conduct of all those connected with the management of our finances.

It again becomes my duty to call your attention to the suspension of specie payments by the State Bank, and the Bank of Illinois, at Shawneetown. The frequent failures of institutions of this character to meet punctually their engagements, solemnly admonish us that they can never be of any permanent utility, until the security to the public that their notes will be redeemed upon presentation, is increased, and they are thrown entirely upon their own resources, instead of Legislative indulgence. Twice, in the short space of two years, have they violated their obligations, and twice has that violation received legislative sanction. It is to be hoped, however, that a similar occurrence will not again take place, and that our Banks will prepare for resumption of specie payments at an early day, and, at least, take care of themselves for the future.

Having found no cause to change my sentiments in relation to the banking system generally since the date of my last message, it is unnecessary that I should enter upon that subject at length on the present occasion. The pernicious consequences inflicted upon the country by the operations of Banks, within the last few years, is too indelibly stamped upon every department of business to be misapprehended by the most sceptical. The fluctuation in the prices of labor, property and trade of every description, have kept pace with the alternate expansions and contractions of their issues; and whether the injuries thus sustained are attributable to their guilt or innocence, the effect upon the prosperity of the people is the same. So interwoven have the affairs of our citizens become with those institutions, that it cannot be denied that they control and direct the circulating medium, commerce and wealth of the country; and not only so, they frequently wring from legislative bodies an acknowledgment of their utility, and exercise an influence over the public mind which it is difficult to overcome. Thus have they fortified themselves behind an almost invulnerable rampart, erected by encroachment, and justified by the tyrant's plea, "necessity."

Usurpations of whatever character are usually preceded with the persuasion that they are essential to the advancement of the people in the scale of prosperity and happiness; and in this way they are stripped of their rights, and bound in the chains of political slavery before they are aware of the danger. To guard against such startling power, concentrated in Banks, all the virtue and energy of the patriot must be called into action, and constant requisition. Already one important blow has been struck for the severance of this power from the Government: its deadly grasp was broken by the adoption of the Independent Treasury. If this salutary measure of public safety continues in operation, it will exercise a healthy and controlling influence upon their issues, limit the amount collected to the wants of the Government, and teach them the necessity of relying entirely upon their own resources. If they are deprived of the public revenue, and, consequently, a participation in the management of a momentous department of public business, it will be impossible for them successfully to attribute their revulsions and suspensions to the existing administration. The whole world would know the fault was alone their own, and their labors to conceal it would add a deeper stain to their guilt. However true the argument, that they afford facilities to trade and commerce, the conclusion would be preposterous, that these facilities would be more certain and useful if they were connected with the management of our national finances.

Being convinced of the propriety of providing a fair compensation for prosecuting attorneys, I regard an increase of their salaries as absolutely necessary to the advancement of the public welfare. It will be impossible to command the best talents of the State, in the administration of justice, which is highly essential, if a fair and just equivalent is not held out for the enlistment of that talent. The adoption of this course, instead of being a useless expenditure of money, would, I have no doubt, conduce to that economy, which is imperiously demanded by our condition.

Although I know of no instance of any individual coming from another State into ours to vote, yet I have been informed from sources in which I place the utmost reliance, that extensive arrangements were concerted among a portion of the citizens of another State to come into Illinois for that purpose at our recent election for President and Vice President. In view of the danger to which we are exposed from such innovations along the borders of the State swept by the Mississippi and Ohio rivers, I feel it my duty to recommend the passage of a law, providing for the apprehension and rigid punishment of offenders who may invade the rights of the elective franchise. The startling frauds which have recently been perpetrated in New York and other places for the destruction of these sacred rights, I regard as little better than high treason, and striking a deadly blow at the foundation of the government.

A frequent recurrence to fundamental doctrines being essential to the perpetuity of free government, it is a matter of the first consideration, that we keep the respective political rights of the Union, the States, and the people clearly defined. The security of each depends upon the separation and well regulated balance of power between them; and care should, therefore, be taken to prevent strengthening the arm of the Confederacy. Congress should exercise no power but such as has been expressly delegated, or is absolutely necessary to carry the delegated power into effect. There is certainly no necessity for encroachments upon state sovereignty or individual privileges. If the General Government will protect us from foreign invasion and domestic insurrection, the great object of its formation, and deal out justice with an impartial hand, it is all we can expect or desire. The one will leave us in the quiet enjoyment of our pursuits, while the other will afford us no cause of complaint. But when it draws within its grasp powers never surrendered to it, and adopts partial legislation as the rule of its action, then, indeed, it is verging rapidly to monarchy, and may justly alarm the fears of the patriot.

The idea that the people should look up to it for assistance in times of pecuniary distress, is most revolutionary in its tendency, and this revolution is speeded in its object when the laws are directed to the promotion of private interest, instead of the general good. Hence, the various and diversified charters granted to monopolizing companies, are sapping the foundation of the Republic, destroying the equality of citizens, and creating distinctions in society. In the pure republican days of the Revolution, merit and demerit, virtue and vice, alone drew the line of separation between one man and another: now the pampered sed monopolist scorns an association with honest poverty. Why is this? It is because the Government lost sight of the object of its formation, and by venturing upon special grants of power, gave rise to a modern aristocracy, who are mere consumers, living on the productions of the poor man's labor; and although the pernicious effects of such legislation may be unobserved by many, still it is leading to the most fatal consequences—I fear to civil revolution.

Ours was intended to be a government of limited power, plain in its construction, and economical in its administration; not one of unbounded sway, special privileges, hereditary descents, titles and nobility. Yet its frequent inroads upon individual rights, and the sovereignty of the States, furnish living memorials of its increasing strength, and solemnly warn us to be vigilant and active in the maintenance of our independence. Although the virtue and patriotism of the people were enabled to triumph over a National Bank, the alien and sedition laws, and their kindred acts, they may yet yield their freedom to the same despotic spirit, which, always restless, and never wearied in its exertion for conquest, approaches them under various disguises. Fearful of an appeal to their reason, resort is had to show and parade to inflame their passions; thus proving that, while their influence is courted, the utmost contempt is entertained for their intelligence. The history of all republics which have preceded us bear evidence to the fact, that the wily and ambitious usually resort to such resources to corrupt the public mind and public morals previous to seizing upon the reins of supreme authority; and if we do not guard ourselves against such insidious devices, we will lose our liberties in the same way, and have nothing but the wreck of a violated Constitution, and a ruined country to transmit as a legacy to our children. Let the Government be free from monopolies and the influence of wealth, just in its administration, and economical in its expenditures, liberal in its policy, and free from encroachments, taking care of itself, and leaving the people as much as possible to the enjoyment of their own pursuits, and it will insure its own perpetuity, and the freedom of its citizens.

Having called your attention to various interests of the State which presented themselves to my mind as worthy of your first consideration, I doubt not that such as I have omitted will be suggested by your own wisdom. Hoping that you may be guided by patriotism in all your deliberations, and a sincere desire for the promotion of the public welfare, and that your labors may be crowned with signal success, I take my leave of you with earnest benedictions to Almighty God for your happiness individually and collectively.

STATE HOUSE COMMISSIONERS' OFFICE,
Springfield, November 30, 1840.

To the Hon. the SPEAKER of the Senate:

SIR: I am instructed by the Board of State House Commissioners to say in reply to your resolution of the 27th inst., calling for a report of all matters and things relating to our office, that such a report as called for will be made to the General Assembly in the course of ten days at most, and sooner if possible. The preparing the Hall for the reception of the House of Representatives has prevented our making a definite report at the opening of the special session.

I am also directed by the Board to say, that it was not their wish or desire to have the Senate adjourn over until Monday for the purpose of giving them an opportunity of rendering the Senate chamber more comfortable, although so informed by Mr. Job. So far from this being the case they regarded the plastering of the ceiling of the gallery as not only unnecessary to the comfort of the Senate, but a useless waste of time and money (as the finishing of the gallery would entirely destroy it) besides retarding our progress in the Hall of the House of Representatives, the fitting up of which is now so much needed. I am further instructed to say that intimations coming from Mr. Job, are not generally expressive of the wishes or intentions of the Board.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

A. G. HENRY.

Which was read, and,

On motion of Mr. Ralston,

Referred to the committee on Public Buildings.

The reading of the same was dispensed with, and referred to the committee on counties.

Mr. Snyder, from the committee on the Judiciary, to which was referred a resolution in relation to the payment of interest on loans and the fulfilment of all contracts of the State, reported the same back with an amendment, in the adoption of which they ask the concurrence of the Senate. They amend as follows:

Strike out all after the word "represented" and insert the following:

"That the State of Illinois would, at this session of the Legislature, repudiate her contracts, although fairly entered into, and be unwilling as well as unable to pay the interest on her loans;" therefore,

Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Illinois, "That we consider all contracts made in pursuance of law by our agents, when the consideration has been received, as valid and binding upon the people of the State of Illinois, and that common honesty and the honor of the State demand a strict and punctual fulfilment on our part in every particular, as we shall expect and require the same of individuals or corporations with whom contracts may have been made;" which was read and concurred in.

And the question recurring on the adoption of the resolution as amended,

It was decided in the affirmative.

Those voting in the affirmative, are,

Messrs. Allen, Baker, Churchill, Cullom, Davidson, Evans, Feaman, Fithian, Gaston, Gatewood, Gibbs, Hacker, Hamlin, Harrison, Houston, James, Johnston, Kilpatrick, Little, Markley, Monroe, Moore, Nunnally, Parrish, Pearson, Ralston, Richardson, Ross, Sargent, Slocumb, Snyder, Stadden, Stapp, Warren, Witt and Wood—36.

Nays—none.

Mr. Speaker: I am directed by the Governor to lay before the Senate a communication in writing. And he withdrew.

Mr. Parrish, from the committee on Salines and Saline Lands, reported back the bill, entitled "An act to provide for the manufacture of salt at the Gallatin saline," without amendment, and recommend the passage of the same.

Ordered to be engrossed for a third reading.

On motion of Mr. Monroe,

Resolved, That the Governor of this State be requested to furnish the Senate with all the information in his power relative to the late sale of State Bonds to the agent of the canal contractors, whether or not said bonds were sterling bonds payable in London, and if so, whether or not said contractors paid, or are to pay the State the difference of exchange between the State of Illinois and the place of payment.

On motion of Mr. Monroe,

Resolved, That the committee on Finance, be instructed to inquire into the legality of the late sale of State bonds by the Governor of this State, to Gen. Thornton, agent of the canal contractors; whether or not said bonds were received by said contractors at the par value as contemplated by law, and report thereon.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Davis, their Assistant Clerk:

Mr. Speaker: I am directed by the House of Representatives to inform the Senate that they have adopted the following resolution, in which they ask the concurrence of the Senate.

Resolved, That so much of the Governor's message as relates to the elective franchise, and the frauds which have been committed in this and other States in relation thereto, be referred to a joint select committee, consisting of three members of the Senate, and five members of the House of Representatives, who shall institute an investigation into the frauds which may have been perpetrated at the recent elections in this State; collect as far as possible the evidences and instances thereof, and report a summary of the same with their opinion thereon; and that Messrs. McClernand, Dodge, Drummond, Wheeler, and Edwards, be said committee, on the part of the House. And he withdrew.

On motion of Mr. Gatewood,

Resolved, That the Fund Commissioner be requested to report to the Senate as early as possible the success he may have had in his negotiations, and also, to report to the Senate the amount of interest due on the 1st. January, 1841, and what are the available means to pay the same.

On motion of Mr. Stapp,

Resolved, That the Fund Commissioner be required to report forthwith to the Senate, whether or not the $50,000, in the hands of Judge Young and Gov. Reynolds at the date of his report of Aug. 20, 1840, has been, by those gentlemen or either of them, paid over to the Fund Commissioner, and if not paid, whether or not the Fund Commissioner has made demand for the same, and if demanded and not paid, what reasons were offered for refusing to pay; and also, if within the knowledge of the Fund Commissioner, how long said $50,000 has been in the hands of said Young and Reynolds or either of them previous to his said report.

Amount of interest distributed on the 1st of January, 1840	- - - - -	$44,326 60
Amount of interest to be distributed on the 1st of January, 1841	- - - - -	$46,053 61

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

LEVI DAVIS,

Auditor Public Accounts.

Which was read, and,

On motion of Mr. Ross,

Laid on the table.

Mr. Speaker laid before the Senate the following communication from the Auditor of Public Accounts, viz:

AUDITOR'S OFFICE, ILLINOIS,

Springfield, December 1, 1840.

To the Hon. the SPEAKER of the Senate.

SIR: In compliance with a resolution of the Senate requiring the Auditor to furnish certain information relative to the Gallatin and other salines I have the honor to submit the following information.

The quantity of land in the Gallatin Saline Reserve was reported originally to be 100,000 acres, but the precise quantity on actual survey I have not the means of knowing. The number of acres sold up to the present time as appears from the reports of Commissioners of sales on file in this office, is 93,903 acres.

The following sums appear to be due from the avails of said saline viz:

From the securities of James Caldwell, Commissioner of sales	$1,303 28
From the securities of Tyler D. Hewitt, " "	2,844 29
From the lease to Timothy Guard, from December 4, 1834,
to December 4, 1840, - - - - -	1,500 00
From the lease to Benjamin White, from December 4, —
to December 4, 1836, - - - - -	200 00

The amount due from Tyler D. Hewitt was originally $4,419 51. The account for this amount was placed, about two years since, in the hands of Samuel D. Marshall, Esq. the circuit Attorney of the 3d Judicial Circuit, who instituted suit upon, and collected the sum of $1,575 22, which reduced the amount to the sum above stated. Mr. Marshall advised me that the whole amount could be realised when the estate of Hewitt should be finally settled.

There appears upon the books of this office to be due from Willis Hargrave, agent of the said Saline, the sum of $36,151 99, for rents and metal. This account accrued previous to my coming into the Auditor's office, and since that time there have been efforts made on the part of the Legislature to adjust it, but nothing was finally done, and the account still remains in the same situation. The most of this account is for metal and the difficulty in adjusting it arises from the fact, that the agent never made any reports to the Auditor's office.

The only salines in which the State retains an interest are the Gallatin and Big Muddy. The Vermilion and Bond county salines have been entirely disposed of. The Big Muddy yields no revenue to the State, and the period for which it was leased expires this day, and so far as I am advised it would be better that it should be sold.

In regard to the Gallatin saline, I do not feel competent to advise what course would be most proper to adopt in the disposition of it. Considering the time spent in legislating upon this subject at almost every session, and the small amount of revenue which will arise from it, I have no doubt that in making some final disposition of it at this session, the Legislature would promote the interest of the State.

In my opinion the most proper disposition which could be made of it would be to sell it upon such restrictions and conditions as would prevent any monopoly on the part of the purchasers, and secure our citizens against any exorbitant prices which they might manufacture.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

LEVI DAVIS,

Auditor of Public Accounts.

Which was read, and,

On motion of Mr. Gatewood,

Laid on the table.

On motion of Mr. Gaston,

Resolved, That the committee on Finance be instructed to inquire into the expediency of reporting a bill giving to actual settlers a pre-emption when any part of their farms have been entered by the State under the internal improvement laws.

The engrossed bill, entitled "An act to provide for the manufacture of salt at the Gallatin saline," was read the third time;

Mr. Monroe moved to again refer the same to the committee on Salines and Saline Lands, with instructions to report a bill for the sale of the remaining salines and saline lands, to provide the means to carry into effect the appropriations made to counties by "An act, entitled 'An act relating to the Gallatin salines and lands belonging to the same,' approved January 16, 1836;" which was decided in the negative.

Those voting in the affirmative, are,

Mr. Speaker: I am directed by the House of Representatives to inform the Senate that they have adopted the following resolution, in the passage of which they ask the concurrence of the Senate.

Resolved, That a joint select committee of three on the part of the House of Representatives and two on the part of the Senate, be appointed to investigate the official acts and doings of the Board of Public Works, and report as early as practicable; and that they have appointed Messrs. Mr. Speaker laid before the Senate the following communication from the Governor viz:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,

Springfield, Ill., December 2, 1840.

To the Senate of Illinois:

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a resolution of the Senate of the 30th ult., requesting me to furnish the Senate with all the information in my power relative to the late sale of State Bonds to the agent of the canal contractors, whether or not said bonds were sterling bonds payable in London, and if so, whether or not said contractors paid, or are to pay the State, the difference of exchange between the State of Illinois and the place of payment.

In answer to the above resolution, I have the honor to reply that the bonds paid to contractors on the canal were sterling bonds payable in London, and that the exchange, between that place and Illinois, was secured to the State. Such is my recollection of the verbal statement of Gen. Thornton in October last. I am again constrained to repeat that no written report has been furnished me by the Canal Board during the present year, nor has any written statement been furnished me by Gen. Thornton, as agent for the canal contractors, in relation to his negotiation of $1,000,000 bonds in London on their account, although when at Quincy in October last, he positively promised, as soon as he could return to Lockport, to make out a complete statement in writing of the financial condition of the canal and forward to me, to enable me to lay the necessary information before the Legislature at their present meeting.

I have been equally unfortunate in procuring information from the Board of Public Works, having received no report from them during the year, and since my arrival at the seat of Government I addressed a note to the Fund Commissioner, requesting to be furnished with the amount of interest due in New York on the first Monday of January next on the internal improvement debt, which was answered by his Secretary, but failed to furnish the information required. Therefore, the amount set forth in my message was left indefinite. A failure of those various functionaries, as well as a failure on the part of the Auditor of Public Accounts to furnish the information required in relation to the financial affairs of the State, has compelled me to resort to the late report of the Fund Commissioner, and other means of information that were not official (but at the time were believed to be correct) for data to enable me to make up the statistical table presented in my message, and should any inaccuracies appear therein they are attributable to the above causes.

THO. CARLIN.

Which was read, and,

On motion of Mr. Monroe,

Referred to the committee on Finance.

Resolved, That if the principles of the Sub-Treasury are correct, when applied to the General Government, those principles apply with equal force and effect to the State governments, and therefore expedient that the State revenue should be collected in gold and silver exclusively, and that it be disbursed by the officers collecting the same.

Resolved, That any money, which is good enough for the people and the States, is also good enough for the General Government and its officers and that no other or different kind of money should be exacted by the Government from the people.

Resolved, That the questions of a National Bank and Sub-Treasury have been fairly at issue before the people of the United States, in the late contest for President and Vice President of the United States, and that they have solemnly decided by an overwhelming majority, that the establishment of a National Bank upon good sound republican principles is not only safer and less expensive than the Sub-Treasury scheme, but that it is also necessary to restore to them a safe and sound currency throughout the Union, and that the Sub-Treasury law, or scheme, is anti-republican in its tendencies and detrimental to the best interests of the people of the United States and that this decision is in accordance with the expressed views of Washington and Madison, at least so far as the question of a National Bank is concerned.

That the sentence of unqualified condemnation by the people has been passed against the standing army plan, as recommended by Mr. Poinsett and endorsed by Mr. Van Buren, and that such an organization is only adapted to the canine soldiery system.

Mr. Parrish, from the committee on Salines and Saline Lands, made the following report, viz:

"The committee on Salines and Saline Lands, to which was referred a bill, entitled "An act to incorporate Medical Societies," have had the same under consideration, and report that they are sensible of the inestimable benefits society derives from the labors and exertions of our enlightened, talented and experienced body of Physicians, and that health, the greatest of earthly blessings, is of the first consideration to every human being, and all encouragement consistent with the principles of equality and the well being of society should be extended to those who labor to preserve or restore it. But your committee think this encouragement is to be found in measures differing widely from the provisions of the bill under consideration—as physicians are called forth in cases of sudden emergencies, when life or death often depends upon the speed of the remedy, affording them no time to contract for compensation or to use even ordinary caution in providing means of proving their services. A law softening the rule of evidence in such cases and affording them every reasonable facility for proving their demands seems to be called for in common justice. But while your committee is thus willing and desirous of recommending measures to facilitate and aid them in the recovery of compensation for their services, they cannot go further and recommend any measure intended to give them a corporate existence as a class, or confer any privileges upon them which are withheld from other classes and professions of men. Every man has a right to select his occupation or profession and rely upon his individual merit and exertions for success. Government cannot interfere or abridge this right without violating its trust and acting so far despotically, thus incorporating a body of men in each county with power to check persons from engaging in any certain occupation or profession would tend to arrest a man's first step in life, the choice of occupation and thrust him back as unfit to make the selection for himself. Further, is it not impolitic and unjust to establish a body of censors in each county with exclusive powers not only to determine who are worthy and fit subjects for the medical profession, but also, to determine for every man, woman and child in the county or State, whom they shall employ to administer to them in sickness and distress, and more especially when this incorporated body of censors are to be physicians whose interest it will be to monopolize all the business themselves and exclude every thing that may threaten them with competition. If such privileges are given to a select body of physicians they cannot be justly refused to other bodies or professions; carpenters, smiths, farmers and taylor's are at least as necessary to society as physicians and as much entitled to legislative favor. Say then you establish in each county in this State a certain number of blacksmiths who shall have corporate power, can sue and be sued, &c., and with censorial and inquisitorial powers over all other blacksmiths within the bounds of said county or State, the effects to be expected from this measure would be the monopoly of all the business of the county by the select few and their friends. The evils are in both cases the same and only differ in degree. Such a monopoly appears to your committee unsuited to the genius of our institutions and the security of our State. For this and many other considerations, your committee cannot recommend the passage of the bill, they therefore report it back, and ask to be discharged from its further consideration; which was agreed to.

Mr. Monroe moved to lay said bill and report on the table, and that they be printed for the use of the Senate.

Ordered, That the title be as aforesaid, and that the Secretary inform the House of Representatives thereof, and ask their concurrence therein.

A message from the Council of Revision by Mr. Purinton, their Secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Council of Revision have had under consideration a bill, entitled "An act making school commissioners elective by the people," and return the same to the Senate as improper to become a law of this State, because doubts may hereafter arise as to what laws are in conflict with this bill. To obviate this objection, and meet what the Council suppose to be the views of the Legislature, the Council would suggest as a substitute to the 4th section of this bill a provision to the following effect, viz:

"The commissioners and agents appointed by the county commissioners' courts of the several counties of this State shall respectively go out of office as soon as the school commissioners to be elected under this act shall have entered into bonds, as is provided in the first section of this act, and all such parts of laws authorizing the county commissioners' courts to appoint commissioners and agents shall cease to operate as soon as school commissioners in the several counties of this State are elected and qualified to act according to the provisions of the first section of this act."

The bill provides no duties for the school commissioners to perform and contains no reference to former laws authorizing the appointment of a commissioner and agent for the inhabitants of each of the counties of this State, so as by implication, to involve the duties and powers of said commissioners and agents upon the school commissioners to be elected by the people.

The Council would therefore suggest that provision be made that the school commissioners to be elected, under the provisions of this act, shall perform all the duties, possess all the powers, and be subject to all the liabilities that are conferred and imposed on the commissioners and agents appointed by the county commissioners' courts of each of the counties of this State, under and by virtue of "An act, entitled 'An act authorizing the sale of sections numbered sixteen, or such lands as may be granted in lieu thereof to the inhabitants of such township for the use of schools,'" passed 22d January, 1829, and the several acts amendatory and in addition thereto.

Mr. Herndon moved the adoption of the following preamble and resolutions, viz:

Whereas, The late report of the railroad agent, John D. Whiteside shows that the sum of three hundred and seventeen thousand dollars have been expended upon that part of the Northern Cross railroad which lies between Springfield and Jacksonville, and that it will take about one hundred and thirty-five thousand dollars to complete the same, including iron which has already been procured; And whereas, it will be bad policy upon the part of the State, to permit this part of the Northern Cross railroad to remain unfinished, when so large a proportion of its cost has already been expended; Therefore,

Resolved, That the committee on Internal Improvements be instructed to report a bill, at an early day, providing ways and means for its completion, upon some one of the following conditions, viz:

1st. That the State complete the same; that special bonds be issued, bearing any interest not exceeding eight per cent. per annum, to be designated Northern Cross railroad bonds; that said bonds be sold to raise the means for the completion of said work, and that the tolls derived from the use of so much of the Northern Cross railroad, aforesaid, as lies between Meredosia and Springfield, be set apart to pay interest upon said bonds, and for their final liquidation; or,

2d. That should the committee believe it entirely incompatible with the interest of the State to undertake to complete the aforesaid railroad, they will then report a bill, giving to the counties of Sangamon and Morgan jointly, or either of them, the right to complete the same, to give them, or either of them, the power to borrow money for that purpose. That the said counties of Sangamon and Morgan, or either of them, have full control of said railroad until they, or either of them shall have received from the proceeds of the same a sufficient amount to reimburse principal and interest to be expended by them, or either of them, in completing the same, and for twelve months thereafter, the State reserving the right to take possession of the same at any time after five years, by paying principal and interest, so expended by said counties, or either of them; or

3d. Should the committee find the second proposition, in their judgment, to be impracticable, that they then report a bill giving the right to a private company to complete the same upon just and equitable conditions, both to the State and company. That the committee provide by bill, should the State be unable to procure means, by sale of bonds, within three months after the adjournment of the General Assembly, for completing said railroad, then the counties of Sangamon and Morgan, or either of them, may take the same upon the conditions provided above: should the counties, above mentioned, not be able or willing to undertake its completion, then give to a private company the same rights and privileges as the counties of Sangamon and Morgan would have had, should the said counties, or either of them, have had conferred upon them, or either of them, the right to complete said railroad, and been unwilling or unable to undertake and complete the same, and in that event, that the said counties shall, within six months from the adjournment of the General Assembly, give public notice of their inability or unwillingness—that if the person or persons, empowered by this General Assembly to negotiate a loan upon the Northern Cross railroad bonds, should be unable to procure the means from sale of the same necessary to complete said portion of the Northern Cross railroad within three months after the adjournment of the General Assembly, he, or they, so appointed, shall give public notice of the same.

Whereas, it is one of the principles of a free government to impose no unnecessary taxes and burdens upon the people; And whereas, the West Point Academy was established as the nursery for the military genius of our American youths, thereby furnishing our army with skillful officers, and giving that order of talent a proper direction; And whereas, also, the history of that institution, for more than twenty years past, has demonstrated the fact, that it has failed in the objects of its creation, having never yet furnished the army a skillful officer of ability, but on the contrary has been the hot bed of favoritism and aristocracy, and officers from that institution have, on a late occasion during our Seminole hostilities, shamefully resigned at a time their country expected of them bravery and patriotism; thus proving that there is an inherent defect, as well in the selection as education of youths there; therefore,

Resolved by the General Assembly, That our Senators in Congress be instructed and our Representatives requested to use their endeavors to reform the abuses, not only in the selection of candidates to be educated there at the public expense, but in the education itself, and in case both these evils cannot be removed to vote against any more appropriations of money for said institution.

A message from the Council of Revision, by Mr. Purinton, their Secretary:

Mr. Speaker: I am directed by the Council of Revision to return to the Senate the bill, entitled "An act to reorganize the Judiciary of the State of Illinois," together with their written objections in relation to the same; which objections are as follows, viz:

The undersigned, members of the Council of Revision, have had under consideration the bill, entitled "An act to reorganize the Judiciary of the State of Illinois," and having bestowed upon it that attentive consideration which the nature and importance of its provisions demand, feel constrained to return the same to the Senate as improper to become a law, because, in the judgment of the undersigned, its passage would be fraught with incalculable evils to the people of this State.

The first objection which presents itself, is the sweeping repeal of all acts and parts of acts establishing circuit courts in this State. How far this repeal may effect important interests cannot be clearly foreseen, and may occasion much mischief. The bill no where, in express terms, provides for the creation or re-establishment of circuit courts in each of the counties of this State.

By the 17th section of the act regulating the Supreme and Circuit Courts, passed 19th of January, 1829, it is declared that, "It shall be the duty of the said Judges, respectively, to hold two terms annually in each county in their respective circuits, in conformity to law; which courts shall be holden respectively at the times and places now, or hereafter to be prescribed by law; and the said courts shall be styled "circuit courts for the counties in which they may be held respectively."

The 18th section of said act confers jurisdiction on said circuit courts over all matters and suits at common law, and in chancery; and the 20th section of said act confers criminal jurisdiction. Now, if the first section of the bill, repealing all laws establishing circuit courts, repeals these provisions of the judiciary act of 1829, may not doubts hereafter arise whether the present bill provides for the re-establishment of a circuit court to be holden in each county in the respective circuits which can be considered the legal successor of the repealed courts? Can it be said to follow, as a necessary consequence, because the third section of the bill divides the State into "nine judicial circuits," that, therefore, there is re-established circuit courts in each of the counties of this State? Does not the fourth section of the bill leave the question as uncertain as the third? This section provides for continuing over to the circuit courts, created by this act, all suits &c. Where, it may be asked, is the provision in the bill creating circuit courts in each of the counties of the State? This ambiguity in the phraseology of the bill may lead to doubt and uncertainty in its construction. The bill is also defective in not providing that the newly created circuit courts, if such there be, shall have power to issue executions on judgments and decrees already rendered in such repealed courts. This omission may occasion much embarrassment to judgment creditors and suitors in chancery. The bill is, however, obnoxious to objections of a graver character than those above referred to, as it respects its operations upon the interests of the people of this State. It is believed by the undersigned that the system proposed to be put in operation by this bill will be found to be wholly inadequate to the wants of a great and growing community like ours, and to impose burdens upon the people inconsistent with the speedy and proper administration of justice.

The attention of your honorable body is, therefore, respectfully invited to some of the considerations that the undersigned deem important to be kept in view, in coming to a just conclusion upon this subject, and which will be presented in as concise and intelligible form as the nature of the task, and the pressure of other important and urgent duties will allow. The bill under consideration, after repealing out of office all the circuit Judges, provides for the appointment of five Judges of the Supreme Court who, together with the four now in office, are required to hold the Supreme Court in all the circuit courts in the State. This is a requisition, in the opinion of the undersigned, that will be found physically impossible. There are now nine circuit Judges, who have no other duties to perform than to hold the circuit courts; yet, without any fault on their part, but from the magnitude of the business, and the want of time, they have been unable to do the business in these courts. This fact is notorious to all conversant with judicial proceedings, and to many members of the legislature, and is also confirmed beyond doubt or denial by the dockets of their courts, which show that hundreds of cases, in a large number of the populous counties, have remained untried from time to time for the want of me to reach them in their order on the docket; thus occasioning great expense, vexation, and loss of time to parties and witnesses. When, therefore, the judicial functions of the Supreme and Circuit Courts, and those of a Council of Revision, also, are all devolved upon nine Judges, it must be manifest to the most superficial observer, as well as those in any degree acquainted with the nature and extent of their duties, that they are greater than are compatible with the abilities of that number of Judges to accomplish, and consequently greater than accords with the best interests of the people. Should any one be disposed to doubt the correctness of this proposition, that doubt can be easily removed by the simple rule of addition, by adding the time which the Judges of the Supreme Court are necessarily occupied in presiding in that court, and acting as a Council of Revision, to the time required to accomplish the business in the circuit courts. It will be seen that fifty-two weeks are inadequate to the performance of all these multifarious duties in the order of succession in which they must be performed by the nine proposed Judges.

The constitutional and paramount obligations of the Supreme Court, to act as members of the Council of Revision during the session of the Legislature, and to preside in the Supreme Court until all the business of that court is disposed of. The time that will be thus occupied this winter, including travel to and from the seat of government, will not fall short of four months, even under the supposition that the Supreme Court will be ready to adjourn as soon as the Legislature, which was not the case last winter. The business of the summer term of the Supreme Court, including necessary travelling to and from court, will require from six to eight weeks. The last summer term occupied those who live most remote from the seat of government six weeks, and the business has increased since that time; but allowing only seventeen weeks for the winter terms, and seven weeks for the summer terms, including travel and the time occupied by the Judges of the Supreme Court at the seat of government, will be twenty-four weeks. Take, then, for example, the ninth circuit, and suppose the Judge of that circuit, immediately on his return home, should commence holding the circuit courts; it would require twenty-six weeks, as the law now stands, to hold the spring and fall circuits, and still leave an immense amount of business untouched for want of time. This circuit is referred to because the information in relation to the length of time the courts were held in it last year, and the crowded state of the dockets, can be relied on. It then clearly appears, if this bill goes into operation, that the Judge who shall be assigned to this circuit, will be required, in addition to twenty-four weeks occupied at the seat of government, to hold circuit courts for twenty-six weeks more, and still leave a great amount of business untouched.

In several of the circuits it is confidently stated, by individuals well acquainted with the subject, that unless the terms are lengthened at least one half, that the business of those courts will remain on the docket for years, without any possibility of the suits being tried or disposed of. In making this calculation the undersigned have taken for their data the time actually employed at the seat of government, and the time employed in holding the courts in the ninth circuit under the existing law.

When, therefore, it is taken into consideration that the business of the Supreme Court is rapidly increasing, and that the time allowed by law to many of the circuit courts is so much too short that, with all the exertion of the Judges, not more than half or two-thirds of the business can be performed, it is clear that the time allowed to these circuit courts must be greatly extended or the circuits divided, and additional Judges appointed, otherwise, there will be such a delay in the administration of justice, as will be in many cases equivalent to a denial.

From this view of the nature and extent of the judicial business of the State, it must be apparent to the understanding of every man that it is physically impossible for nine Judges to perform the duties enjoined upon them by this bill. But suppose it was possible that, by a total abandonment of their homes and a consequent neglect of their families and private business, they could, by an entire devotion of their minds and bodies to the service of the State, make out to hurry through the business of the courts, and decide all of the causes as they might be ready for trial, the undersigned would respectfully ask, is it good policy on the part of the State, or is it just, or liberal in the legislative department of the government, to impose upon a co-ordinate branch of the Government burdens so onerous and unprecedented? The undersigned forbear to remark upon the character of the measure in reference to the Judiciary; but may be allowed to say, that, in their judgment, the operation of the bill will be prejudicial to the rights of the citizens and the character of the State.

Judicial decisions in courts of the last resort not only effect the interest of the suitors, but, like legislative enactments, are of importance to the whole community, because they form rules of former action. It frequently becomes the duty of the Supreme Court to adjudicate upon the most intricate, grave, and important causes; in so doing, the court must necessarily settle principles of the greatest importance, whether constituted in reference to the immediate amount involved, the sacredness of the rights affected, or the extent and universality of their applications. As the judgment of this tribunal is final, it must be apparent that an erroneous decision may occasion the most extensive and irreparable mischief.

It is, therefore, of the highest importance that every opportunity should be afforded this tribunal for a full and thorough investigation of the cause brought before it. The questions this court may be thus called upon to decide, are not only of vital importance in their nature and results, but may be proportionably intricate and embarrassing in their character. Will it then be contended that in such a case the court should decide upon first impressions, without time and opportunity to examine it in all its aspects and bearings? The fate of this bill will determine. At each term of the Supreme Court there are from thirty to fifty causes continued to the succeeding term, in order to have an opportunity of investigating all the points involved, to examine the records in the causes, to search for, and compare authorities; and when a result is arrived at and agreed upon, then to write out the opinions, so as not only to settle a controversy between the parties, but to serve as a rule for the government of similar cases. The discharge of this laborious and responsible duty, it must be manifest to every understanding, cannot be accomplished in a few days.

The principal duties of a Judge, upon his circuit, ends with the adjournment of the court, but it is far otherwise with the members of part of the last resort. The investigation of causes that continue under isement, forms the most laborious part of their official functions, and the st of the time allowed under the present arrangement, may be thus fitably employed.

The organization of the courts, proposed by the bill, is obnoxious to other objection, so deeply affecting the rights and interests of every tion of society, that the undersigned cannot refrain from calling your attention to the subject. For nearly half of the year all the Judges will by this bill, drawn to the seat of government, and consequently the formance of all their functions must cease in every other portion of State. It results, as a necessary consequence, that many writs and ors that are absolutely necessary in the administration of justice must obtained from these Judges at considerable expense and delay of ors. This objection, however worthy of consideration, is nevertheof small moment when compared with other consequences arising out the detention of all the Judges of the State at the seat of government.
 e passage of this bill will totally preclude the possibility of holding rial terms for the despatch of civil business, or for the trial of pers committed to jail for crime; a matter of vital importance, as well to whole community as to the prisoner. It is well known that the jails many of the counties are very insecure; this circumstance is often the se of heavy expenses to such counties by compelling them to hire a rd. In addition to the heavy burthens thus unnecessarily thrown upon nties, in guarding and in supporting prisoners for nearly half a year, rights of the prisoners are also disregarded by being detained in an uncomfortable jail during the most inclement season of the year, and thus ect to much deprivation and suffering before trial. Any unnecessary ering inflicted on those charged, but not convicted of crime, is equally ar with the principles of justice and humanity. Should the prison-however, be found innocent of the charge, his long imprisonment and ring will be a severe reproach to the institutions of our country, as
 as an unmerited and irreparable calamity to the injured individual, is left without remuneration for his lost time, and without redress his aggravated sufferings.

is undoubtedly the duty of the State to provide for the prisoner as y a trial as the circumstances of the county will permit. This is anted by the express terms of the constitution, and is dictated by ee and humanity. But neither the spirit of the constitution, nor the iples of justice, can be carried into efficient operation under the rial system proposed by this bill.

ne passage of this bill may also seriously interrupt the sessions of the uit courts, if, during their sessions, there should arise an emergency special call of the Legislature. The Judges would then be under necessity of immediately abandoning their circuits, and leaving the ness, no matter how great or how pressing, undisposed of, to attend e seat of government.

ne bill makes no provision for a state of things which, in the opinion
 e undersigned, may work great injury and inconvenience to persons suitors in courts. Some of the circuit courts are now, according to n session, and will doubtless continue in session until they are apd in an official manner of the final passage of this bill. All their adjudications and proceedings, after this bill becomes a law, will be null and void. And all persons concerned in executing the same, or any process under them, will be trespassers.

The undersigned can perceive no reason in the fact, that because the Legislature, in January, 1827, repealed the then circuit court system, would be proper and expedient to do so now. Since that time the population of this State has increased from about seventy-five thousand to nearly half a million; and in greater proportion than the increase of population has been the increase of business. Our wants have become multiplied and complicated with every accession to our population. At the time of the former repeal of the circuit system there were but thirty-eight counties in this State, many of them having hardly business enough to occupy the courts for one day. Now the case is entirely different. We have nearly one hundred counties, many of them with an extremely numerous, enterprising, and business population, demanding from the government an increase of the facilities for enabling them to assert and determine the legal rights, instead of a diminution of those to which they have been accustomed for years past.

In many of the circuit courts of this State it has been found impossible to dispose of the business that has been accumulating within the last three or four years; although the Legislature has doubled, and in some instances trebled, the length of time formerly allowed them for holding their courts. This, however, is not matter of surprise: it is the inevitable effect of the march of civilization and prosperity. The undersigned are, therefore, clearly of opinion, that what may have been wise and proper then, may be highly impolitic, nay, even ruinous, now. Nor do they believe that an argument can be drawn in favor of the proposed plan, from the system adopted by the Federal Government in the organization of her Judiciary department. That system, doubtless, is found to work well in practice, and to answer the purpose for which it was designed. But it must be borne in mind that the Supreme Court of the United States does not form a Council of Revision, as do the Judges of the Supreme Court of this State; that the Federal courts are courts of limited and defined jurisdiction, having no right to adjudicate upon cases except in a very few instances, when it was supposed or feared that the State courts would not afford adequate relief to one or other of the parties. This prevents, to a great extent, the overwhelming increase of business in those courts which takes place in our own, and renders the system inapplicable to us, applicable and proper to them. In addition to this, the undersigned would remark, that the jurisdiction of the courts extends over twenty-six States, each having a distinct and separate system of laws and practice, and which laws and practice, except in a few cases, are to be adopted by the Federal courts. These circumstances may render it highly proper that the Judges of the Supreme Court of the United States should perform circuit duties, and acquire knowledge of the practice and laws of those States, with reference to which they are called upon to give their opinions at Washington City. But surely no such state of things exists here. There is not a distinct code of laws, or system of practice, applicable to each of the counties of this State. One uniform system prevails over the whole. In every part it is, or should be, the same. Certainly, then, no analogy can be found to exist between the Judiciary system of the Federal Government and that of this State, from which an argument could be drawn in favor of the system proposed by this bill.

Perhaps it may not be amiss here to inquire, if the system of the Federal Judiciary would be useful and proper for the adoption of the States, why some of the neighboring States, whose condition and circumstances are similar to our own, have not before this time adopted it, and thus availed themselves of its benefits?

In every point of view in which the proposition contained in the bill before us has presented itself, difficulties and obstacles arise so great and manifest, that the undersigned are constrained, by a sense of duty to the country, to return the bill with their objections.

WM. WILSON,
SAM'L. D. LOCKWOOD,
THOMAS C. BROWNE.

FEBRUARY 8, 1841.

The undersigned is constrained, from an imperious sense of duty, which he may not omit, to concur in returning the "act reorganizing the Judiciary of the State of Illinois," submitted to the revision of the Council, as improper to become a law, for reasons which in his judgment are of the most forcible and conclusive character.

He is well aware of the high consideration and respect with which the acts of one co-ordinate department of the government should be examined and treated by the others; nor is he less mindful of the duties imposed on him by the situation he occupies, and the solemn obligations by which he stands bound to perform them.

The deep importance of the objects contemplated by the bill, and the radical change it proposes to effect in the judicial system of the State, certainly demand the most grave and earnest consideration.

And the more especially so when it is perceived that, if carried into operation, no power remains ever to retrace the step, short of a change of our State constitution, through the medium of a convention of the people, acting by their delegates in their sovereign capacity, no matter how much the great interests of the people may demand it.

Such being the case, it is submitted to the consideration of those who must be the ultimate arbiters in the matter, whether it ought not to be well ascertained, and placed beyond doubt, that the change proposed is demanded by some absolute public necessity; and justified as well by the beneficial results which should be certain to follow the adoption of the act, as the constitutional exercise of the power to pass it.

Before proceeding to state the principal objection entertained by the undersigned to the adoption of the act, it becomes a matter of some importance, and that the force of the objections to be stated may be better understood, to examine the position which the legislative department occupies in regard to the constitution under which it acts.

So well satisfied is the mind of the undersigned, that on the present occasion, the position referred to has been defined by the clear and lucid mind of one of the greatest constitutional Judges of the country, that, in addition to the force and respect with which it will be received, its appropriateness on the present occasion, it is supposed, will be readily admitted. The late Chief Justice Marshall, in the case of Marbury vs. Madison, remarked:

"The question, whether an act repugnant to the constitution can become the law of the land, is a question deeply interesting to the United States, but happily not of an intricacy proportioned to its interest. It seems only necessary to recognize certain principles supposed to have been long and well established to decide it.

"That the people have an original right to establish for their future government such principles as in their opinion shall most conduce to their own happiness, is the basis on which the whole American fabric has been erected. The exercise of this original right is a very great exertion; nor can it, nor ought it, to be frequently repeated. The principles, therefore, so established, are deemed fundamental. And as the authority from which they proceed is supreme, and can seldom act, they are designed to be permanent.

"This original and supreme will, organizes the government, and assigns to different departments their respective powers. It may either stop here, or establish certain limits not to be transcended by those departments.

"The government of the United States is of the latter description. The powers of the Legislature are defined and limited; and that those limits may not be mistaken or forgotten, the constitution is written. To what purpose are powers limited, and to what purpose is that limitation committed to writing, if their limits may at any time be passed by those intended to be restrained? The distinction between a government with limited and unlimited powers is abolished, if those limits do not confine the persons on whom they are imposed, and if acts prohibited and acts allowed are of equal obligation.

"It is a proposition too plain to be contested, that the constitution controls any legislative act repugnant to it; or that the Legislature may alter the constitution by an ordinary act. Between those alternatives there is no middle ground. The constitution is either a superior, paramount law, unchangeable by ordinary means, or it is on a level with ordinary legislative acts, and, like other acts, is alterable when the Legislature shall please to alter it. If the former part of the alternative be true, then a legislative act contrary to the constitution is not law. If the latter part be true, then written constitutions are absurd attempts, on the part of the people, to limit a power in its own nature illimitable. Certainly all those who have framed written constitutions, contemplate them as forming the fundamental and paramount law of the nation; and consequently, the theory of any such government must be, that an act of the Legislature repugnant to the constitution is void.

"This theory is essentially attached to a written constitution, and consequently to be considered as one of the fundamental principles of our society."

Again, he remarks:

"Those, then, who controvert the principle, that the constitution is to be considered as a paramount law, are reduced to the necessity of maintaining that courts must close their eyes on the constitution, and see only the law. This doctrine would subvert the very formation of all written constitutions. It would declare that an act which, according to the principles and theory of our government, is entirely void, is yet in practice completely obligatory. It would declare that if the Legislature shall do what is expressly forbidden, such act, notwithstanding the express prohibition, is in reality effectual. It would be giving to the Legislature a practical and real omnipotence with the same breath which professes to restrict their power within narrow limits. It is prescribing limits, and declaring that those limits may be passed at pleasure. That it thus reduces to nothing what we have deemed the greatest improvement on political institutions. A written constitution would of itself be sufficient in America, where written constitutions have been received with so much reverence, for rejecting the constitution."

If, then, sound and incontrovertible propositions be applied to the act under consideration, it will be seen with what peculiar force they bear on the unconstitutional character of the law proposed. The better to understand the truth of this assertion, let an inquiry be had into the objects of the act.

The first section repeals an act creating a circuit court north of the Illinois river; also, an act establishing an uniform mode of holding circuit courts; also, an act dividing the State into judicial circuits, an act forming an additional judicial circuit, an act dividing the State into judicial circuits, enumerating the days of the approval of each act; and then declares, that all other acts and parts of acts, establishing circuit courts, and authorizing the election of circuit judges, be, and the same are hereby, repealed.

The object, then, contemplated by the law, is evidently twofold.

1. To repeal all the laws creating circuit courts in the State, and to thereby abolish the same.

2. To legislate all the present circuit judges out of office.

The latter object is manifested by the 2d and 3d sections of the bill, which provides for the election of five additional Associate Judges of the Supreme Court at the present session of the General Assembly, and by dividing the State into nine judicial circuits, and assigning the Chief Justice and the other Associate Justices of the Supreme Court, in connection with those created by the act, to the several circuits named.

The act cannot, in the judgment of the undersigned, be considered otherwise than as—

First. In direct conflict with both the letter and spirit of the constitution of the State.

Secondly. It is retroactive in its nature, and violative of the public faith.

Thirdly. It is in conflict with, and subversive of, private right, because it impairs the obligations subsisting between individuals and the State.

To establish the first proposition, recurrence is to be had to the 4th article of the constitution of the State, which declares in the first section of that article, that "the judicial power of this State shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and such inferior courts as the General Assembly shall from time to time ordain and establish;" and the 4th section of the same article, which provides "that the Judges of the Supreme Court first chosen under the constitution, until the expiration of the first session of the General Assembly, which shall be begun and held after the first day of January, 1824, shall respectively hold circuit courts in the several counties, in such manner, and at such times, and shall have and exercise such jurisdiction as the General Assembly shall by law prescribe." By the 6th section of the same article it is also expressly provided, "that the Supreme Court, or a majority of the Justices thereof, the circuit courts, or the Justices thereof, shall respectively appoint their own clerks."

Under these provisions of the constitution, the first General Assembly, on the 31st day of March, 1819, passed an act, the title of which is, and as in truth it was, "An act defining and regulating the duties of the Supreme Court." This act, in none of its provisions, attempts to create circuit courts, but seems to reorganize them, as already created by the constitution. It provides in what manner and by whom the circuit courts in the State, which it presupposes to exist, shall be holden; how many terms there shall be; the extent of their jurisdiction and powers, civil and criminal. And by the 20th section assigns, as the constitution intended should be the case until 1824, the Justices of the Supreme Court to their several circuits.

There is also a remarkable coincidence in the interpretation supposed to be justified from the letter and spirit of the constitution and this act, and that is, that the 46th section of the act transfers all recognizances, writs, and process of every kind, from the general court and circuit courts, holden under the Territorial government, to the Supreme and circuit courts directed to be holden under the act not then created, but to be holden under the act. Thus recognizing the existence, it is supposed, of circuit courts, presumed to have been created by the constitution, for none is created by the act itself.

If this reasoning be correct from the parts of the constitution and the laws of 1819 cited, it may be urged with great force that such courts were called into being by the constitution itself.

If so, then it would seem equally clear that the legislative department has no power whatever to abolish what the constitution created.

Additional reasons are afforded in support of this position, by reference to the provisions of the 6th section of the constitution, in regard to the power given to appoint clerks. That power is distinctly conferred on not only the Justices of the Supreme Court, but by direct words on the Justices of the "Circuit Courts."

And here an inquiry naturally arises—what clerks are to be appointed, and of what courts? Are they to be appointed to courts in existence, or to those to be created in future? It would seem to be of those already in existence; for the Supreme Court is distinctly specified, and it is apprehended that the circuit courts are as clearly named. Of none other does the constitution speak of the appointment of clerks.

Suppose, however, that this reasoning is not correct, and that under the first section of the 4th article quoted, the General Assembly possessed and were to exercise the power to create circuit courts for the State, under the expression "and such inferior courts as the General Assembly shall from time to time ordain and establish;" can it be with reason justly contended that the power to create implies an equal power to destroy? The delegation of a power to do an act cannot mean an equal power to revoke the act when done. It might be wholly inconsistent with the grant of power, and defeat its very object. The phrase "from time to time" does not necessarily impart such power; but the creation at different periods of different tribunals, such as the exigencies of the State shall demand.

The power to modify or alter cannot mean a power to annihilate, or destroy altogether; because it would be inconsistent with the intention and object of modification, or change sought, which must be supposed to be to better or improve the thing sought to be modified or altered, leaving a portion of the original still in being. Hence the conclusion, that the first section of the bill is repugnant to the constitution, and an infringement of the provisions cited.

On the second ground, that it is retroactive in its nature, and violative of the public faith, it is to be remembered that the constitution has expressly provided in the 3d section of the 4th article of that instrument, that "the Judges of the inferior courts shall hold their offices during good behaviour, and shall have adequate and competent salaries, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office." It further provides two modes of displacing Judges, to wit: by impeachment, and by an address of two-thirds of both branches of the General Assembly.

The circuit Judges having been chosen by virtue of the laws made, and under and in the manner prescribed by the constitution, must surely hold their offices during good behaviour. The tenure of both the Supreme and Circuit Judges is precisely the same, and without the least difference. They hold their offices as long as they behave well in those offices, and discharge the duties imposed on them. Human language, it would seem, could not be clearer, or more free from all ambiguity or doubt. "During good behaviour" cannot surely mean during the will of the Legislature; because no such power is any where given by the constitution to the Legislature to express its will. The constitution is a law to the legislative department, which cannot be rightfully transcended, as much so as their laws are binding on the citizen, which he may not violate.

The wisdom of this provision in the constitution, by which the stability of judicial tenure is preserved, has well been said to be of the deepest importance and necessity. In the text-book of the constitution, written by Mr. Madison and others it is remarked that the standard of good behaviour for the continuance in office of the judicial magistrate, is certainly one of the most valuable of modern improvements in the practice of government. In a monarchy it is an excellent barrier to the despotism of the prince: in a republic it is no less a barrier to the encroachments and oppressions of the representative body. And it is the best expedient which can be devised in any government to secure a steady, upright, and impartial administration of the laws. And nothing can contribute so much to its firmness and independence as permanency in office. This quality may therefore be justly regarded as an indispensable ingredient in its constitution, and in a great measure as the citadel of public justice and public security."

This security would be entirely abolished, if it were possible to give to the terms "good behaviour" any other meaning than what the terms so clearly import. But it is also most evident that the constitution, by providing two modes of removing the Judges from office, thereby necessarily excluded all other modes; and that the term of service of a Judge holding his office under the constitution by good behaviour, can only be concluded by his misconduct, or the vote of two-thirds of both branches of the General Assembly.

There are many parts of the constitution which serve to illustrate this conclusion.

The constitution declares "that no religious test shall ever be regarded as a qualification to any office or public trust under this State;" "that all elections shall be free and equal;" "that the right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate."

Now, should the Legislature prescribe a religious test as a qualification to office, or make by law elections partial and unequal, or destroy the right of trial by jury, is there any one bold enough to say that such laws ought or should be enforced or respected? If not in such cases, why shall that which is equally clear and certain, be violated by an act destroying the tenure of office, and virtually the office itself? Its operation is considered not only violative of public faith, and retroactive in its nature and consequences, by destroying a solemn contract previously entered into between the State and its officers, but its tendency is to degrade them without a trial or hearing, and for no cause or offence whatever. By an act neither desired nor justified, it is submitted whether they are not deprived of their offices, and the emoluments thereto attached, without notice or accusation?

But the constitution has said that the salary of the Judge shall not be diminished during his continuance in office. This being true, and no law can be passed to reduce it, how is it that the Judge can be deprived of his office and emoluments by a bare law. If the lesser evil cannot prevail, how is it that the greater may, and the office be taken from him without cause of offence on his part?

In the case of the United States vs. More, reported in vol. 1, Cranch, 159, it will be seen that it was held that even a justice of the peace for the District of Columbia, having had his fees once fixed by law, a subsequent law diminishing that compensation cannot affect that justice of the peace during his continuance in office. Thus illustrating the principle of the stability of rights conferred under the constitution and laws of the United States.

To these unanswerable reasons an argument is sometimes opposed, and one certainly mixed up with much sophistry and unsoundness. It is said that acts of the character in question do not repeal the Judges out of office, but merely leave the incumbent without duties; and that as they have no duties to perform, they are entitled to no compensation, and appropriations may be justly refused them. Can this position be defended and sustained by reason or justice?

On the third ground, that the act is in conflict with, and subversive of, private rights, because it impairs the obligation subsisting between individuals and the State, it is to be remembered, that if the officer is ready and willing to perform his part of the contract entered into under the solemn guarantee of the constitution as to the terms of its duration, and admitted to now exist between the State and the officer, and the State refuses to allow him so to do, must not the act of prevention be in direct conflict with the private right of the party to whom the act of refusal relates? States should hold the force of moral and legal obligations equally as binding and effectual as those rules which compel the observance of those principles between individuals. As strong a sense of right, and a desire to avoid injustice, would seem to be expected in such cases, as on other occasions which call for their exercise.

It has, however, been said, that the act is constitutional, and is fortified by former precedents. Two instances are referred to for the support of this position: the one which occurred in the Congress of the United States, in 1802, and one in our own State, in 1827. It is proposed to make a brief examination of these cases, and some facts connected therewith.

In September, 1789, the judicial courts of the United States were established by an act of Congress under that title. By this act the Supreme Court of the United States was formed, and consisted of a Chief Justice and five Associates. The United States was divided into thirteen districts; and those districts, excepting Maine and Kentucky, were divided into three circuits. Two terms of courts in each of those districts were required to be held. The courts were called circuit courts; and two of the Judges of the Supreme Court, with the district Judges, were required to hold those courts. In 1801, on the 13th February, an act to provide for the more convenient organization of the courts of the United States, was approved, and by which the former system was changed, new districts were created; and in those districts, except the 6th, there were three Judges, called circuit Judges, commissioned to hold the courts. The jurisdiction and services were defined in the act.

On the 8th March, 1802, an act to repeal certain acts respecting the organization of the courts of the United States, and for other purposes, was passed, and by which the system under the act of 1801 was abrogated. By this act, however, the previous system of organization of the courts of the United States was restored, and expressly declared to be revived and in full force. Ample provision was made in the act for the transfer of the business in the courts held under the act of 1801, to the courts revived by the act of 1802. The act of 1802, it was contended, repealed the circuit Judges created by the act of 1801 out of office. This act was passed at a time of great party heat and excitement, remarkable for the fierce contentions and bitterness which prevailed among the two great parties which existed at that time, and which, indeed, threatened a dissolution of the government.

In 1803, an attempt was made to raise an inquiry into the validity of this act of repeal, in the case of Stuart vs. Laird, (Cranch, vol. 1, 95,) by questioning the right of the Judges of the Supreme Court to hold circuit courts, it being said that Congress could not assign the Judges to hold circuit courts. On that occasion, Mr. Lee, a distinguished advocate and patriot of Virginia, said in argument: "The first act (1802) is unconstitutional, inasmuch as it goes to deprive the courts of all their powers and jurisdiction, and to displace judges who have been guilty of no misbehaviour in their offices." * * * "There is no difference between the tenure of the office of a Judge of a Supreme Court, and that of a Judge of an inferior court. The reason of that tenure, to wit: the independence of the Judge, is the same in both cases. Indeed, the reason applies more strongly to the case of inferior Judges, because to them is exclusively assigned causes of life and death. It is admitted that Congress have the power to modify, increase, or diminish the powers of the courts and the Judges. But that is a power totally different from the power to destroy the courts, and deprive them of all power and jurisdiction. The one is permitted by the constitution, the other is restrained by the regard which the constitution pays to the independence of the Judges. They may modify the courts, but they cannot destroy them if they thereby deprive a Judge of his office. This provision of the constitution was intended to place the Judges not only beyond the reach of the executive power, of which the people are always jealous, but also to shield them from the attack of that party spirit which always predominates in popular assemblies. That this was the principle intended to be guarded by the constitution, is evident from the contemporaneous exposition of that instrument, published under the title of the Federalist, and written, as we all know, by men high in the esteem of their country." * * "The words 'good behavior' cannot mean during the will of Congress." * * * "The people have a right to the services of those Judges who have been constitutionally appointed, and who have been unconstitutionally removed from office. It is the right of the people that their Judges should be independent; that they should not stand in dread of any man who, as Mr. Henry said in the Virginia convention, has Congress at his heels."

Mr. Lee further cited, in support of this doctrine, the speeches of Mr. Madison, Gov. Nicholas, and Chief Justice Marshall, in the Virginia convention, in support of the adoption of this very clause in the constitution of the United States. Certainly the authority of these great men is not now to be denied.

The opposite counsel in the cause freely admitted that Congress could not remove a Judge by repealing the law creating his office: he contended only for the power of Congress to modify courts, that being the only question before the court in this particular case, and he said that "the power of the constitution respecting tenure by good behaviour was not intended to alone protect the Judge, but for the benefit of the people; that Judges might, by the permanency of their offices, be always men of experience and learning."

In the opinion of the court, delivered by Justice Patterson, it will be seen that the constitutional point was not decided, it being considered impolitic to disturb the question; the only points settled being the power of Congress to remove a cause from one court to another, and the right of the Supreme Judges to sit as Circuit Judges, without separate commissions for such purpose. The Judge says: "another reason for reversal is that the Judges of the Supreme Court have no right to sit as Circuit Judges, not having been appointed as such; or in other words, that they ought to have distinct commissions for that purpose. To this objection which is of recent date, it is sufficient to observe, that practice and acquiescence under it for a period of several years, commencing with the organization of the judicial system, afford an irresistible answer, and have, indeed, fixed the construction. It is a contemporaneous interpretation of the most forcible nature. This practical exposition is too strong and obstinate to be shaken or controlled. Of course the question is at rest, and ought not now to be disturbed."

The act of Congress of 1802 affords, then, no countenance in aid of the constitutionality of the act now under consideration; and the decision referred to is inferentially against the constitutional power of Congress in the case to which reference has been had.

The act of the 1st January, 1827, has, however, been quoted as an evidence that the question has been settled in this State, and should be now held conclusive.

It is well known that, on the consideration of that bill in the Council of Revision, the undersigned then entertained, and expressed at large, the same views now given, and denied that the precedent of the Congress of the United States, adopted in the midst of party heat and excitement, formed any just ground on which to base a decision for ourselves. In that opposition it is well understood the reasoning urged against the passage of the bill did not prevail, and the act went into force. Its effect was to dispense with the services of five circuit Judges—(who, whether from that cause or not it is not pretended to say, but so it is, that two of the number have subsequently been elevated by the voice of the people to the station of Senators in the United States Senate, being the highest office within their gift)—and require the performance of their duties by the Supreme Judges, without additional expense.

In 1834, however, the people required a return to the very system abrogated in 1827, and still now in force. In two judicial questions, which have arisen since 1827, the undersigned has had occasion to remark, "when the circuit courts were first created under the constitution, it is well understood that the Judges of the Supreme Court were, as the constitution provided, assigned by law the duty of holding circuit courts. That after the period limited in the constitution, and when in December, 1824, the reorganization of the Judiciary took place, they were withdrawn from those duties, and circuit Judges were elected, by and in virtue of the powers contained in the 6th article of the constitution of the State, who were, when once created, declared by that article to hold their offices during good behaviour, and subject only to removal by impeachment or address.

The repealing of the law which created the circuit courts, of which the persons were Judges in January, 1827, however it may be supposed to have destroyed the courts previously created in 1824, under the provisions of the first section of the 6th article of the constitution, which declares the judicial powers of the State shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and such inferior courts as the General Assembly shall, from time to time, ordain and establish," could not, in my humble judgment, have in the least affected the tenure of the office of the Judge. And why was this so? Because of its being void by reason of its unconstitutionality.

It was further added, in support of the ground assumed, that the shield of the constitution was placed between them and the act of destruction; and if it failed to afford the protection guaranteed by its broad and comprehensive declaration of his right, it is doubtless because he neglected to seek the shelter it afforded.

It is thus seen that the precedents referred to are very far indeed from sustaining the constitutional power to pass the act in question. That their force is greatly impaired by the circumstances by which they were surrounded, and in particular by the departure in this State, in 1834, from the system adopted in 1827, and against the operations of which no just grounds of complaint are believed to exist.

It is not understood that any case of a similar character has ever occurred in any other State of this Union, except that of Kentucky, where the heat and violence of the times led them to attempt to destroy the Court of Appeals in that State, being the highest known to the constitution and laws, and to remove the Judges from office, by the creation of a new Court of Appeals, and the appointment of Judges who actually exercised for a while a portion of their functions; but which court, the returning good sense of the people, and the monstrous character of the act itself, caused to be abrogated by common consent. The violence which characterized those times afforded cause of deep regret to those who desired the preservation of rights solemnly guaranteed to the people, and who stood by the supremacy of the constitution. They ultimately witnessed the realization of those hopes, in the returning good order and peace which succeeded the perils by which they had been surrounded.

The unhappy tendency of the great and radical change which was attempted in the State, by repealing the Judges out of office, and creating a new Court of Appeals, was witnessed in the almost entire suspension of vast improvements to the judicial proceedings of the State for a great length of time. For a period of nearly three years the contention raged, popular elections turned on the question of old court and new court, and it is asserted that criminals charged with high crimes, even dared to seek safety in the unhappy contention excited by the struggle.

The admonitions which are drawn from the history of those days, it is presumed, has not been without their effect. The objections recapitulated by the undersigned have, in his judgment, lost nothing of their force by time or reflection; but, on the contrary, have, in his opinion, accumulated and strengthened.

The undersigned concurs in the objections of the other members of the Council to the act under consideration, which relates to the structure of the act itself, and the consequences which might flow from its imperfections should it become a law.

Having endeavored to state with accuracy the grounds entertained against the adoption of the act in question, with that respect which should mark differences of opinion between co-ordinate departments of the Government, he trusts they will be received in the same friendly spirit they are intended to be communicated; and that those differences will be examined with a desire to arrive at just results.

[Signed.]

Mr. Baker for himself and others, presented the following protest; which was read, and

Ordered to be entered upon the Journal, and is as follows, viz:

PROTEST.

The genius and the policy of republican institutions alike indicate the wisdom and the necessity of a frequent appeal to the people. It is thus, and thus only, that the misconduct of their representatives may be rebuked; and when the guards of the Constitution, and the sacred rights of minorities are trampled under foot, the time has arrived for the appeal, and for the decision.

The undersigned, members of the present General Assembly, have witnessed with regret and indignation the passage of the law for the reorganization of the Judiciary. Their earnest and repeated efforts to defeat it, have been unavailing; and already the din of the degrading contest for its offices and emoluments sounds mournfully in the ear of patriotism.

To the majority of a Legislature, whose idol is party supremacy, we have addressed our reasons and our entreaties in vain. Announced as a party measure, for party purposes, the measure has been strengthened by the startling admission; and it only remains for us to present to the people and the country the cause of our opposition, and our opinion of the results.

One great objection to this bill is, that it is uncalled for by public opinion or public convenience. This bill provides for the repeal of all the Circuit Courts, and for the election of five additional Supreme Judges, who, together with the present Supreme Judges, are required to hold Circuit Courts.

This is an entire change in our judiciary system. By what necessity is it justified, or by what emergency is it required? Does it provide any more Judges to hold Circuit Courts? Does it cause more courts to be held, or more causes to be decided? Will delays of justice be obviated, or justice be brought nearer any man's door? To all these questions the answer must be, No! There are still but nine Circuit Judges. They at least can perform no more circuit duty by being Supreme Judges. They can travel no farther, endure no more sleep no less; for at best they are but men. And whoever examines for a moment, will see that this bill, so far from aiding the speedy administration of justice, must, by imposing new and increased duties upon the Judges presiding on the circuit, materially delay and impede it.

Since the adoption of the circuit system, in 183— the need of additional circuits has been constantly increasing, and gradually supplied. Our population has doubled; our business has increased in a still greater proportion; and the creation of new circuits, so as to keep pace with this advance, has been demanded by the people, and performed by the Legislature.— There can be no doubt that a continuance in this course would have proved for the future, as it has done for the past, convenient, economical, and satisfactory.

But if this change is not called for by public convenience, still less has it been demanded by public opinion. When the Legislature assembled in advance of the usual time, the public mind was turned with feverish anxiety to the condition of the State, and the course of its rulers. An immense debt—an empty treasury—our internal improvement system a wretched skeleton—railroads half finished, or half decayed—iron without rails, and roads without iron—the canal so surrounded with difficulties, that even its truest friends were almost found “to stop, too fearful and too faint to go”—our scrip, issued on the faith of the State, spreading like leaves every where, and like leaves almost valueless: these were some of the difficulties of our condition; and these it was supposed required our utmost wisdom and patriotism.

But while thus surrounded by clouds of misfortune, there was one part of the State a ministration against which there was no complaint, and in which, almost alone, no change was required: need we say, this was our system of Circuit Courts, established after various trials, conforming itself to the condition and increase of our population, and approved by the experience of all the surrounding States? How strange, how unaccountable must it appear, that, while all the rest of these great interests remained unprotected, almost untouched, this system of circuit courts has been attacked and destroyed. Yet if unjust and unwise as we believe it to be, public opinion, the great moving principle of free government, had indicated this change, we would have yielded obedience to its dictate or at least bowed in submission to its authority. But this was not the case.

In the canvass preceding the late election, excited and heated as was, the subject was undiscussed; the change was not proposed; and even when it was known that there was a large majority of Van Buren men in either branch of the Legislature. Up to this moment no petition, no complaint upon this subject, has invited the attention of this body, or asked for its legislation to destroy our Judiciary system.

Thus unasked, unrequired, the bill has been ushered into existence; not merely in advance, but in defiance of that public will, for which its supporters always profess such profound respect.

Nor is the manner in which this bill has been sustained, less remarkable. It was preceded by the statement, that the destruction of the existing system was to be followed by the creation of inferior tribunals, by which the public interests would be advanced. Their jurisdiction, their Judges, their location, were left to the imagination of those whose votes were necessary. And if visions of judicial dignity burst upon their excited fancy, and furnished powerful reasons in support of the bill they were called upon to pass, it might well be called a masterstroke of policy, if not of morals, to suggest the idea. Nor were the spoils of victory to be disregarded: scattered in every county of the State, the new clerkships might tempt avarice, and excite ambition, or at least afford a safe, if not honorable retreat from the indignation of the people.

But if these reasons were still insufficient, the genius of its friends was called into brilliant exercise in rousing the spirit of party; and the dominant party were called to its support in the name of democracy, as if the spirit of democracy could animate a measure remarkable only for supreme contempt for the popular will, or stern determination to usurp power. It was thus the democracy were called on to rally to its support; and it was unblushingly avowed as its object, to obtain a democratic majority in the Supreme Court, that they might decide questions of law according to the principles of democracy, or, in other words, according to the will of the party in power. It was by these and kindred means the bare constitutional majority was obtained; and thus the independence of the Judiciary, the surest shield of public welfare and private right, has been brought to abject submission at the feet of legislative authority.

We have not been neglectful of our duty in warning the majority of the danger of these violations of the spirit of the Constitution. We have pointed to the care with which the Constitution has guarded the rights of the Judiciary. We have remonstrated against this evasive mode of removing Judges, who are expressly required by the Constitution to be commissioned during good behaviour; we have asked that, if criminal or incompetent, they should be removed by address or impeachment, the only modes known to the Constitution; and we have deprecated in respectful, but earnest terms, an arbitrary exercise of power, which may soon become the precedent for still more flagrant violations of right and justice.

But we have striven in vain. The torrent of party prejudice has borne down our objections, and we can only hope that in the majesty of the popular will, it may find a barrier sufficient to impede its course, and stay its mischief.

We desire to say, also, that we consider this a fit occasion to express our conviction of the great injury this bill will cause to our character as a State. We have arrived at a critical period in our history; we seem to be surrounded by adverse circumstances well fitted to try our public faith and individual virtue. It would be the greatest, as we trust it may be the last evil we could endure, to lose our rank among States, and stand disgraced amid the fair sisters of our confederacy. But if to the calamities to which we are already subject, and which direct painful attention to our course, is to be added a party judiciary, made by one party, and for one party, and of one party, who that loves his country does not painfully perceive the deep, but certain degradation, which awaits us? Nor do we think the influence of this bill less pernicious in its more immediate results: that there will be a lamentable want of confidence in our courts we firmly believe, nor indeed can it be otherwise. Whoever may be selected as Judges, under this bill, must feel that they receive these offices from party domination, for party purposes: the lofty independence, so becoming to a Judge, cannot exist; the will of the party, and the success of the party must be in their thoughts. And if it were possible to suppose it otherwise, how will they stand with the community? Will they not be subject to the galling, but continual imputation—to the burden of a suspicion, justified, if not by their conduct, at least by their position. Baneful and miserable must the tendencies of this measure be; for our courts, if not corrupt, must be suspected, and the streams of justice turbid, if not by the impurity of the fountain, by the jaundiced vision of the beholder.

There are many of the undersigned who witnessed in another State the fearful consequences of a similar interference with the courts by the legislative authority. They saw there a contest thus produced which, for bitterness and ferocity, has seldom been equalled. They witnessed the whole frame work of society shaken—justice denied, delayed, and brought into disrepute—crime stalking unrebuked and unpunished, and the best interests of a community shattered or crushed; and they cannot remain silent when an attempt is made, which, being intended for similar purposes, may produce similar results.

For the reasons thus presented, and for others no less apparent, the undersigned cannot assent to the passage of the bill, or permit it to become a law without this evidence of their disapproval; and they now protest against the passage of a bill for the reorganization of the Judiciary, because,

1st. It violates the great principles of free government by subjecting the Judiciary to the Legislature.

2d. It is a fatal blow at the independence of the Judges, and the Constitutional tenure of their office.

3d. It is a measure not asked for, or wished by the people.

4th. It will greatly increase the expense of our courts, or else greatly diminish their utility.

5th. It will give our courts a political and partizan character, thereby impairing public confidence in their decisions.

6th. It will impair our standing in the opinion of other States and the world.

7th. It is a party measure for party purposes, from which no practical good to the people can possibly arise, but which may be the source of innumerable evils.

The undersigned are well aware that this protest will be altogether unavailing with the majority of this body. The blow has already fallen, and we are compelled to stand by, the mournful spectators of the ruin it will cause. But we cannot do otherwise than point out the danger of this measure, its impolicy and its usurpation, in order at least that the despotism of a momentary majority, may not become a precedent for succeeding enormities, or future crimes.

We have thus accomplished our only remaining duty upon this painful subject, and we commit the final decision of this great question to the judgment and justice of the people. We have struggled ineffectually to guard the principles of our Government from unhallowed innovation, and we now submit this great question to our constituents and the country. As representatives we can do no more—as citizens we shall be found where we have ever been, contending for the supremacy of the Constitution.

Nor are we without one great consolation; there is a spirit in the people, sometimes slumbering, but never extinct, which, when thoroughly aroused by usurpation or tyranny, will overwhelm the usurper and his devices in an undistinguished ruin; nor can they long escape this generous indignation, who prostitute the power bestowed by the people to unworthy ends or selfish purposes. When that spirit shall kindle in its might and rebuke the authors and abettors of this plan, we may rely upon this protest as a proof of our fidelity to the cause of the country, and a shield against the indignation of the people.
